Production of 2,500 Tons a Day to Increase

Saline county's newest mine is stripping away in Walnut Grove community of Independence township and present production is approximately 2,500 tons a day.

A visit to the operation, which is the Saxton Coal corporation's Walnut Grove mine, revealed a bustling, busy place. Two big shovels were stripping for coal, a bigger one is being set up to join in this work, and another shovel is loading big haulage units which take the coal and dump it in a huge hopper for processing.

John Wible, mine superintendent, stated that a sizeable bloc in Independence township is being stripped for No. 2 and No. 2 seam coal. The mine has been in production now for about six weeks.

Production to Increase

Busy lifting off the overburden is a 10 cubic yard Marion shovel and a seven and a half cubic yard Lima. A 13 and a half cubic yard capacity Marion is being set up. Production from the present 2,500 tons will go up when this last shovel is working.

The plant area is composed of the modern tipple, in which the coal is processed before being conveyed into railroad cars, supply house, shop and office buildings, and the high track of the railroad spur that connects with the main line of the New York Central between Harrisburg and Ledorford.

Right now 47 men are on the production payroll, most of them transferring from the Saxton operation between Carrier Mills and Stonefort, which closed shortly before this development began. At present there also are construction men on the premises.

Immediately under Mr. Wible are Clifford Shepherd, head foreman; Jimmy Vaughn, tipple foreman; and Orval Russell, second shift foreman.

Route of Coal

Darwin Youngs of Petersburg, Ind., general manager of Saxton mines in Indiana and Illinois, who was at the Walnut Grove mine yesterday with Bernard Youngs of Petersburg, vice president of Saxton corporation, explained the route of the coal from pit to railroad car, as follows:

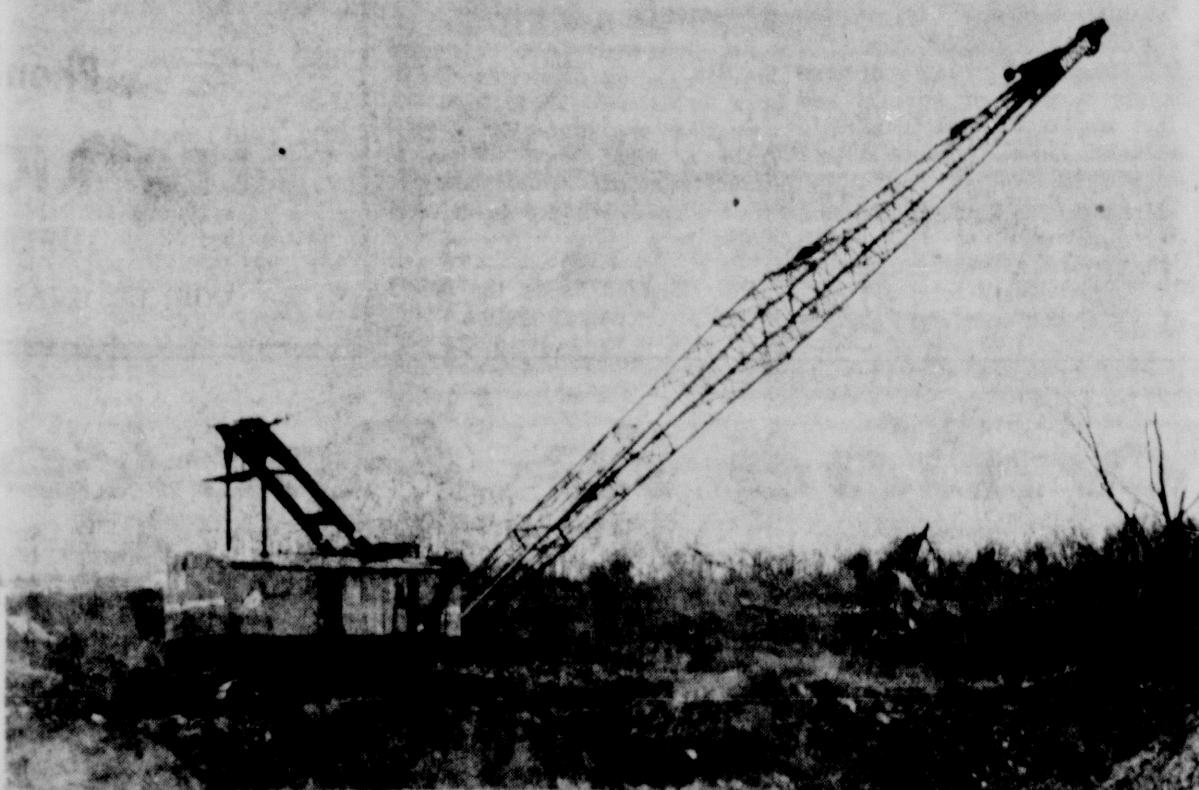

Coal is brought in from the pit in 18-ton units and dumped into a 60-ton hopper, then into a primary breaker where it is crushed into four-inch top size. This is fed out on a 48-inch rubber conveyor belt to the washer head, where there is a six-cell McNally-Pittsburgh washer.

It next moves out of the washer and the flow is split onto two Allis Chalmers low head vibrators for size screening. The quarter by 28 inch mesh is fed into two centrifugal driers, the larger size not dried.

All products are blended back to conform with contracts and distributed on either of two 36-inch conveyor belts which take the product to the rail head for loading.

Five Youths Arrested After Bank Robbery at Campbell Hill

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. — Five suspects were charged today with the $2,500 robbery of the First State Bank of Campbell Hill, Ill., Wednesday.

Three youths were captured by state police at Chester, Ill., within an hour and 45 minutes after the holdup.

Two others were arrested before midnight in St. Louis, Mo. All the money taken in the hold-up has been recovered.

The suspects arrested in St. Louis were Edward Leonard James, 19, and Arnold Dale Lacy. The three men arrested earlier and being held in the Jackson County jail at Murphysboro, Ill., were identified as Kenneth Lord, 20, Jack Shearon, 18, and John Cookson 22, all of St. Louis. All five youths were unemployed, the FBI said.

The bandits entered the bank Wednesday wearing green cotton masks. They forced Mrs. Freda Ernsting, a bookkeeper, and Mrs. Genevieve Dudenbostel, assistant cashier, to lie on the floor and bound their wrists.

The men then scooped money from three cash drawers into paper sacks and fled. They were spotted leaving the bank by a group of bystanders.

Norman Misselhorn, his brother, Clarence, and Edward Habbeman gave chase. Near Steelville, the robbers abandoned their 1946 get-away car and drove off in a 1955 model while their pursuers were calling police.

Authorities said the suspects' car matched the description of the second get-away car.

The three youths were picked up a short time later near the Chester, Ill., city limits by state police.

London — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd refused today to commit Britain to hurried withdrawal from Egypt pending new consultations with France and consideration of "other matters" such as the future of the Suez Canal.

In a crisis report to the House of Commons, Lloyd reiterated Anglo-French determination for a "phased withdrawal" from the occupied areas of Egypt, and added:

"There are other important matters to be considered, such as the speedy clearance of the canal and the negotiation of a final settlement with regard to the future operation of the canal."

"These matters must be discussed with our French allies and I also await certain clarifications with regard to the carrying out of the resolution passed last Saturday by the U. N. Assembly, authorizing the secretary general to proceed with arrangements for the (canal) clearance as a U. N. operation."

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau will fly here Friday for emergency talks on the "other important matters."

Lloyd's "interim statement" in Parliament was the firmest declaration yet that Britain and France intend to keep at least some of their forces in the Suez until progress is made on clearing obstructions from the Egypt-held section of the canal and on obtaining a final decision on international supervision of the vital waterway.

The foreign secretary told the House of Commons it must wait until Monday for a fuller report on the situation—an indication that major decisions can be expected from the Pineau-Lloyd conference.

LITTLE VALLEY, N. Y. (UPI)—A young milkman, surprised in the bedroom of a housewife by her enraged husband who shot her to death, took his own life Wednesday night in front of the funeral parlor where her body had been taken.

The body of the milkman, Albert Marsh, 23, was found slumped in the front seat of his car. Beside him were a .22 caliber rifle and a funeral bouquet of 25 red roses with the note:

"These roses are for Sue. Life without Sue is nothing."

The housewife, Mrs. Sue Ann Riggs, 24, mother of three children, was shot three times early Wednesday with a .38 caliber automatic pistol by her husband, Ralph, 26, who returned home early unexpectedly from a business dinner.

Union Electric President Called To Testify Before U. S. Grand Jury

SPRINGFIELD (UPI)—The president of Union Electric Co., was called today to appear before a federal grand jury investigating a $35,000 lobbying fee paid by his firm to a lawyer friend of convicted State Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

J. Wesley McAfee, Union Electric's president, was to be called before the grand jury following windup testimony by Harry C. Williamson, the utility's real estate and tax officer.

U. S. Atty. John B. Stoddard said McAfee would be the last witness called at the present session of the grand jury, which will be recessed for about two weeks.

Williamson, who spent more than four hours before the grand jury Wednesday, has been reported to be the man who arranged for the hiring of Chicago attorney J. Roy Browning to lobby for a bill in the Illinois Legislature.

Browning was hired at the suggestion of Hodge. Browning has said he turned over a check for $7,500 to Hodge and never saw the remainder of the $35,000 lobbying fee which ultimately wound up in Hodge's possession.

The bill, which was passed, allowed Union Electric to dissolve its Illinois subsidiary and escape Illinois franchise taxes. After the bill was passed Williamson was paid a $2,500 bonus by his firm.

Williamson was the second witness before the grand jury. Browning testified most of Tuesday.

Inquest Finds No Motive for Fatal Shooting

State's Attorney To File Murder Charge in Slaying

No motive was found last night for the slaying of John Eston Ledbetter at his inquest, at which the coroner's jury recommended that Roy L. Chamberlain be held for grand jury action in the death.

The inquest was conducted at the court house by coroner Elmer M. Gibbons before a gathering that packed the court room. The verdict of the jury was that Ledbetter died of two gunshot wounds inflicted by Roy Chamberlain and the recommendation followed. Ledbetter died shortly after 9 a. m. Tuesday in Harrisburg hospital, a little more than 12 hours after the shooting at Chamberlain's home.

State's Attorney Robert V. Wilson, who sat in on the proceedings, said following the testimony that he planned to file murder charges against Chamberlain today.

Chamberlain Not Present

The testimony revealed that both men had been drinking, that Chamberlain admitted the shooting, but no evidence was brought out as to what happened before the shooting except that Ledbetter said he tried to get Chamberlain to put away a .38 calibre pistol.

Evidence also indicated that six shots were fired from the revolver and that two entered the body of Ledbetter.

Chamberlain, jailed immediately following the shooting, was not present at the inquest.

Chief witness was City Police-man W. R. (Pat) Atkinson, first officer to the scene. Others who testified were Fire Chief L. G. Martin, who arrived a few minutes later, Jesse Gibbons, who took Ledbetter to the hospital, and Dr. Carl J. Hauptmann, the physician.

Egypt Stripped of Power

For years the Israelis have been begging Western nations to furnish them with sizable amounts of modern arms, saying they could not properly defend themselves without them. Now they suddenly appear to have gained more than they ever hoped for.

Their conquest of Egyptian forces has brought them some 50 million dollars' worth of military equipment, including 100 tanks, 1-000 military vehicles, 200 artillery pieces, tons of ammunition and light weapons, 700,000 gallons of gasoline and a complete mobile radar station.

If these gains be offset against Egypt's losses, it can be quickly seen that without heavy material aid from the Soviet Union the Egyptians' power to make war against Israel has been reduced close to the vanishing point.

On top of the captured equipment must be figured the destroyed material in the Sinai campaign, the Egyptian planes smashed by Anglo-French bombers, and Egypt's moderately heavy losses in military manpower—especially officers.

When truce and peace negotiations are undertaken—if they are —the negotiators will reckon with power. Gone forever is the old order, and the prospect of a peace based upon it.

On the Wall

The danger isn't very great yet, men. But the signs are not too good, and we may have to act soon if we're going to safeguard our interests.

The census bureau reports there are now nearly 1,400,000 more women than men in America. The men die off sooner and in larger numbers. Furthermore, a bout three of every five immigrants today are women.

Men still outnumber women in the age brackets up to 25, which is some comfort. If it were the other way around, we'd have a bigger field to choose from. But on the other hand we might have to beat 'em off.

In the later ranges of life, that problem already looms. If the trend sharpens, we're either going to have to get used to the most astounding verbal clutter or seek new refuges yet undiscovered.

Women today outspend and outvote men and dominate the scene in sundry other ways. If we are not to yield the center of the stage altogether, we're going to have to start erecting some stout barricades without delay.

The legend "for men only" may take on a luster it hasn't had for decades. There's got to be some place men can gather to reassure themselves they're still superior.

The WASHINGTON
MERRY-GO-ROUND
by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
White House Rules For Moslem Mosque At Christmas Celebration: Some Clergy
Would Bar Non-Christian Nations From White House Christmas Ceremony; GOP To Push Teen-Age Voting.

WASHINGTON. — The White House has been asked to decide whether a Moslem mosque shall be included in the Christmas display, behind the White House this year. Several clergymen, among them the President's own Presbyterian pastor, Rev. Edward Elson, have maintained that since December 25 is the birthday of Christ and since the Moslem religion battled against Christianity for centuries, the inclusion of a mosque, if not sacrilegious, certainly is not in keeping with the Christmas ceremony.

The Christmas pageant of peace, one of the most beautiful in the nation, has been staged every year on the Ellipse, the park immediately south of the White House. Here are arrayed not only the giant Christmas tree lighted each year by the President, but also live reindeer brought from Santa Claus, N. Y., together with a replica of the stable in Bethlehem.

One of the most important features is a series of pageants in which the embassies of every nation are invited to portray either the Christmas spirit or the spirit of peace.

CLERGY OBJECT

Last year when the Pakistani embassy contributed a mosque there was some objection by local clergy. This year their objections are stronger. Some have even suggested that only Christian countries should participate.

However, Edward Carr, the patriotic ex-president of the Washington board of trade who originally put up his own money for the pageant of peace, felt that peace must be universal, not confined to one religion. He argued that the spirit of Christmas had come to include world brotherhood and peace on earth, rather than merely the celebration of Christ's birthday.

The Pakistani embassy also pointed out that "Islam," the word on the miniature mosque which they wanted to exhibit, means "peace."

At a meeting of embassy representatives, Mr. Chun Prabha-Vivadana of Thailand got up and said:

"My country is Thailand. She is not Christian. We cannot put up a tree, but we will have our symbol at the pageant. So there."

Among others Carr consulted Rev. Elson, the President's pastor, who felt that the Christmas display should stress Christian ideology and feature the nativity.

He did not favor non-Christian symbols. But he did not go as far as some ministers who wanted to bar non-Christian countries altogether.

Finally the matter was referred to assistant president Sherman Adams. Adams has had a lot of thorny problems to decide.
He didn't shy away from this one.

His decision was in favor of world peace and brotherhood, the broader interpretation of Christmas. Non-Christian countries, he added emphatically, including the Arab nations, should be invited to attend.

NO NEWS SPIES

American newsmen are considered a pain-in-the-neck at the Defense Department, but at least they're not accused of spying.

Never has censorship on mere routine information, been so tight in Washington. However, Lee Hargus, former publisher of the Tucson Daily Citizen and of the Bakersfield Californian, now deputy for Pentagon press relations, finally admitted to the Moss committee on press censorship that at least newsmen were not spies.

"Do you know of any instance where an American reporter has been convicted of espionage?" asked John T. Mitchell, counsel for the Moss committee on press censorship.

"No," replied Hargus, "I once made a study of that and have found no such cases."

TEEN-AGE VOTERS

It hasn't been advertised, but the Republican National committee has started a quiet campaign to lower the voting age to 18 in northern states and those bordering the Mason-Dixon Line.

GOP surveys show that the 18-year-olds, who can vote in Kentucky gave the Republicans their margin of victory in that state.
Other surveys show that 18-to-21 year-olds lean toward the Republican party.

As a result, GOP Chairman Len
Hall has passed the word to key Republicans to campaign for lowering the voting age in northern and border-states.

Moral Reserve
Emphasis Shifts

MADISON, Wis. — The notion that America's great moral reserve lies in the country's farmers is gradually disappearing, according to A. F. Wileden, University of Wisconsin sociologist.

The decreasing proportion of our population which is rural has led to a "wholesome" broadening of values, he said.

"We are gradually broadening from an attitude that all truly abiding virtues were rural virtues and that the true test of a nation rested on its agriculture," Wileden elaborated.

Now people want to live under country conditions but with city conveniences, thus the mass migration to the suburbs, he pointed out. New allegiances develop to community schools and other activities because of that move.

But there are other population problems that are causing a social readjustment. Wileden said three changes in the composition of our population promise headaches for the next generation.

First, there are more children every year, with the consequent need for more schools. There are more older people, giving rise to problems of security programs and housing facilities. And last, the increasing number of young women moving to the cities compared with men. Especially for the age group 20 to 24, the many young women who've left the farm create a problem.

"It focuses attention on the need for facilities and arrangements for wholesome courtships and happy marriages," Wileden concluded.

Teen Town Notes

By Joan Seright

Hi Gang!
It sure has been a long time since I last wrote my column so I've got lots of news for you.

First, we want to thank the members of the Business & Professional Women's club who were chaperones during the month of October. We are mighty late in thanking them but we did appreciate their interest. Those who helped were Edna Lewis, Zola Sloan, Ruby Thomas, Nelle Meyers, Marie Cooley, Beatrice Sprung, Mary Richardson, Annabelle Melton, Harriet Land, Amsey Miley, Elizabeth Myrna, Mary Price and Jeanette James.

Chaperones from the V. F. W. Auxiliary for the month of November are: Juanita Nash, Louise Bishop, Freda Keltner, Dolly Johnson, Ardis Tate, Coral Schwartz, Lily Wing, Ruth Rankin, Hazel O'Neal, Dorothy Salus, Grace Stricklin, Gertrude Wendling, Thelma Hill, Edith Evans, Nelle Wheatley, Hettie Barter, Marian Humm, Bonnie Lee Pankey. That's a mighty fine list of people isn't it and it proves that they're still interested in our fine Teen Town.

Thanks go to Wayne Dixon and the Elks for helping us secure some new equipment up at the Penthouse. We think we have a swell Teen Town and we welcome any visitors.

Halloween is past but I think I should mention the nice party that the Halloween committee put on for the members of Teen Town. Members of the B. and P. W. club chaperoned. Prizes were given for the best dancers, and the best costumes. For refreshments, the committee served hot dogs, potato chips, Cokes and candy. It was a wonderful party and all the members enjoyed it.

Well I guess that is about enough news for this time, I'll be seeing you again next week.

(I hope every one had a nice Thanksgiving).

Marine Officer

Ordered Back

To Post in U. S.

WASHINGTON — Brig. Gen. David F. O'Neill, the Marine officer who ordered the wives and dependents of Marines out of Japan, has been ordered back to a U. S. post.

The Marine Corps said the change in command was in no way connected with the O'Neill order to Marine dependents. It said the transfer of officers had been planned for some time.

O'Neill, now commander of the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing in Japan, was ordered Wednesday to report to Miami, Fla., where he will command Marine Aircraft Group 31. He will be succeeded in Japan by Brig. Gen. Arthur F. Binney.

O'Neill created an uproar when he recently ordered the wives and dependents of his combat group to leave Japan and return to the United States. Some of the wives, who had paid their own way to Japan, strongly protested the order.

To Give Elegance,

Give Her Gloves

The Leather Glove Producers of France suggest that every lady should have a pair of luxury gloves for Christmas if they're ladies who don't want something strictly utilitarian but a gift that is personal and elegant.

They don't refer to the French leather glove "classics" women buy for themselves season-in-season-out ... but to the embroidered, jeweled, spangled, flowered, laced beauties that are decorative and romantic.

These run a little higher in price, naturally, than plain gloves ... that's why women wait till Christmas to get them. But they're in a class with ermine wraps, real jewelry, and fine French perfume and don

Hungary Halts Issuing Passports; Lay Minefields to Halt Refugees

VIENNA (AP) — The Hungarian puppet government returned all the way today to hard-line Stalinism.

A government announcement said the cabinet of Premier Janos Kadar had decided not to issue any more passports or exit visas. At the same time, refugees reported that Russian soldiers were laying minefields again along the Austrian frontier across which 96,000 Hungarians have fled to freedom since Oct. 28.

The new rigid ruling on passports and exit visas represented a return to the inflexible Stalinist line which the East European satellites had hoped was gone forever.

After Stalin's death, the Hungarian government lifted the iron curtain for thousands of elderly citizens who had relatives in the West.

Indian Boy Sets Forest Fire

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A 16-year-old Indian boy has confessed to setting a 44,500-acre forest fire which burned to death 11 firefighters.

"I just got a crazy idea to throw a match in the grass to see if it would burn," Gilbert Paipa, a high school student, told Elwood Stone, U. S. Forest Service fire investigator.

The boy was arrested Wednesday at the Pine Hills fire camp where he had been employed as a firefighter two days ago. The Forest Service said he confessed to tossing a match last Saturday in grass near a cabin on the Inaja Indian Reservation where his family has lived for two generations.

Paipa was turned over to authorities here. Stone said a felony complaint was being sought from Deputy District Attorney Claude Brown.

Robinson Boy, Involved in Robbery Dies in Hospital

ROBINSON, Ill. (AP) — One of two youths involved in an attempted grocery store robbery near here earlier this month died late Wednesday at the Allen sanitarium.

He was Harold Tethel, 15, Robinson, who had been hospitalized since he was shot when he and his companion, Jerry Inboden, 15, Robinson, attempted to run a roadblock near here shortly after the robbery attempt Nov. 6.

Deputy Coroner George H. McCarthy said a preliminary report from an autopsy indicated Tethel died of an internal hemorrhage and a state of shock when his condition suddenly worsened at the hospital.

Both youths were charged with armed robbery. Tethel had been under guard at the hospital since his arrest.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State

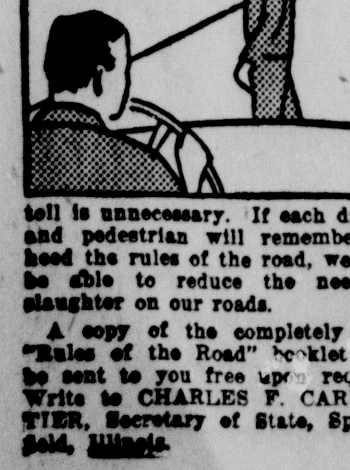

Figures provided by the Division of Traffic Safety show that during the month of December last year 346 persons died on Illinois highways. That means that an average of eight persons lost their lives on each and every day of that month.

Fifty-six, or almost one-fourth of this total, of the victims were pedestrians. This illustrates once more that both the motorist and the pedestrian must concentrate more on their individual responsibilities.

The month of December always ranks high in highway fatalities. The increased hours of darkness, ice, snow, rain and sleet, and holiday preparations add up to the high toll. But in spite of these added handicaps to the driver, as well as to the pedestrian, a high fatality toll is unnecessary. If each driver and pedestrian will remember to heed the rules of the road, we will be able to reduce the needless slaughter on our roads.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

Boy, 4, Sets Car Afire, Baby Sister Burns to Death

SUNLAND, Calif. (AP) — A panic-stricken mother saw her 22-month-old daughter burn to death Wednesday after her 4-year-old son threw lighted matches in the family car, police reported.

The victim was Susan Bordeaux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald F. Bordeaux, of nearby Sun Valley. Officers said Mrs. Bordeaux left the children in the car while she shopped in a market.

A clerk in the market noticed the car was in flames. Mrs. Bordeaux ran outside and had to be restrained from entering the burning car.

Police said the boy apparently found the matches in the glove compartment of the car.

VA Refuses Hospital Ground For Armory

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. (AP) — Democratic Congressman Kenneth Gray of West Frankfort said today that a move to donate four acres of ground at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Marion as a site for a National Guard armory has been blocked.

Gray, representing the 25th District, said the VA in Washington has signed a refusal on the request. A notice of the rejection was sent from the Office of Veterans Administrator H. V. Higley to the secretary of the Army, who is seeking the land.

"Today's action will not jeopardize our chances of having the 100-man armory built. . . . It just means we can select a new site," said Gray.

Veterans organizations in Illinois have put up a stiff fight in recent months to prevent disposal of any of the hospital grounds. On another front, the Illinois Division of Highways has requested some of the hospital grounds to build a new superhighway that is slated for southern Illinois.

Gray said that C. A. Ross of the VA will be in Marion Dec. 4 to investigate the highway request. Gray said he's recommending that the highway be built close to Marion but not through the VA property.

Thomas Hogan, head of the department of business, Bill Ferguson, assistant football coach, and M. O. Wrathe, director of Public Relations, are members of the college personnel who will attend the meeting.

Invitations have been sent to all Illinois alumni. The meeting is also open to all undergraduates and former Murray State College students.

Voorhees Named Head of New Refugee Plan

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower today selected a former Republican congressman, Tracy S. Voorhees of New York, to head the new American refugee and rehabilitation program for Hungary.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said one of the reasons for selecting Voorhees was the fact the President wanted to be sure "that the Hungarian refugees are taken care of in housing, food and employment."

Voorhees, a former Army colonel, was a special assistant to Army Secretary Robert P. Patterson during the Truman administration.

The President Wednesday night announced Salk anti-polio vaccine has become plentiful enough for use by adults. He urged persons between 18 and 35 years old to take advantage of the new supply.

Mr. Eisenhower gave his personal endorsement of use of the vaccine, on the basis of a report to the White House by Marion B. Folsom, secretary of health, education and welfare.

"Secretary Folsom's report on the Salk polio vaccine deserves the attention of every young adult of every parent—in America," the President said.

"I join with Secretary Folsom, the surgeon general of the Public Health Service and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in urging that the vaccine be used promptly—before the next polio-myelitis season arrives."

Folsom reported that about 17,000,000 doses of vaccine are "lying unused in the hands of the manufacturers" and said "additional vaccine is stockpiled in drug stores and physicians' offices."

Hunter Fatally Shot Trying to Club Rabbit with Shotgun

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP) — A Madison, Ill., hunter was fatally injured when he tried to club a rabbit with his shotgun Wednesday.

He was 22-year-old Robert D. Stull of Edwardsville Road.

His hunting companion, Shelby Siebert, also of Madison, told police Stull shot and wounded a rabbit Wednesday. Then, he took his shotgun and clubbed the animal. But he said the stock of the gun broke and it discharged.

The charge ripped into Stull's chest and he died shortly after being taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City.

Recommend Chamberlain Be Held for Grand Jury

sician who attended Ledbetter. Atkinson told of finding Ledbetter on the bathroom floor at Chamberlain's home, with Chamberlain over him. Atkinson called an ambulance and testified Chamberlain told him he shot Ledbetter, saying "Aw, a little trouble," when Atkinson asked him why.

Atkinson said the shooting occurred in a combination dining and bedroom, with four clugs going through the door and imbedding in the kitchen and another going into the ceiling directly above a chair where Chamberlain said Ledbetter had been sitting.

He told of getting the revolver, which already had been unloaded and of Chamberlain saying, "That is the gun—I shot him."

Atkinson placed Chamberlain under arrest and he and Martin took him to the county jail, returning to make an investigation. He said he saw no signs of a struggle. In answering a question placed by Coroner Gibbons, Atkinson said that in his opinion Chamberlain was drunk when he arrested him but that he could walk and talk and should have known what he was doing.

He also said that at the hospital he talked to Ledbetter and that Ledbetter told him he knew of no reason why Chamberlain would want to shoot him. Ledbetter told Atkinson that he tried to get Chamberlain to put away the revolver.

Gibbons told of talking with Ledbetter at the hospital while waiting for the doctor.

"He told me that Chamberlain shot him but didn't tell me why," Gibbons said. "He told me they were good friends. He said he tried to get Chamberlain to unload the gun and put it away. He said he told him that 'tomorrow you'll feel different.'"

Dr. Hauptmann told of the critical condition in which he found Ledbetter. One bullet entered the lower right interior chest, the other the upper part of the abdomen. One slug made its exit about the level of the 12th rib, he stated.

Both wounds were surrounded by powder burns although the bullets had gone through clothing first, said Dr. Hauptmann. The doctor added that Ledbetter was conscious and able to talk.

Fire Chief Martin told of arriving at the home shortly after Atkinson got there and his testimony supported that of Atkinson.

Father of 14 Children Is Killed in Collision Of Truck, IC Limited

CHEBANSE, Ill. (AP) — Pleat Howell, 48, the father of 14 children, was killed today in a collision between the truck he was driving and the Panama Limited of the Illinois Central Railroad.

The collision occurred at a crossing, protected by bell and gate, near here. Howell was alone in the truck.

Associates say that Howell had been on his way to the home of relatives for a cup of coffee when the accident occurred. Howell formerly lived at Chaffee, Mo.

U. of I. Trustees Boost Fees for Out-State Students

CHICAGO (AP) — The University of Illinois Board of Trustees agreed Wednesday to boost out-of-state fees for students by $150 a year to $500.

H. O. Harber, university vice president and controller, said that Illinois fees have long been the lowest among all Big Ten schools.

The $130 yearly fee for Illinois students was not affected.

In other action the trustees boosted the number of graduate fellowships by 43 to a total of 175. The grants pay $1,200 a year and exempt the student from fees. An additional 200 graduate scholarships were also added to the university program. The total increase in expenditure for the graduate program amounted to $78,000.

The trustees authorized application for a $95,750 federal grant to be used for remodeling the Chicago professional colleges and reported an $86,700 grant from the National Science Foundation to pay for an institute for high school teachers in mathematics next year.

There are more than 7,000,000 acres of national parks in Alaska.

Grand Champion Steer Sold for Record $20,397

CHICAGO (AP) — P. S. Troubador II, grand champion steer of the International Livestock Exposition, was sold today for a record price of $20.50 a pound or $20,397.50.

The champion strawberry roan shorthorn, raised by Pennsylvania State University, was bought by the Greenbrier Hotel of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

The $20.50 a pound price topped the previous record of $20 a pound paid to Sue White, 18, Big Springs, Tex., in 1953 for her grand champion. Her steer sold for a total of $20,100.

The reserve grand champion, P. S. Eileen Mere, also raised by Penn State, was sold for $3 a pound to Arbogast and Bastian, meat packers of Allentown, Pa. The animal weighed 1,170 pounds.

The grand champion carload of steers, raised by John F. Momen & Son of Miles, Iowa, was bought by the Gallagher Steak House of New York City for $46.50 per hundredweight. Average weight of the animals was 1,005 pounds.

JP Confesses Swindling Clients Of $183,725

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP) — A 51-year-old peace justice confessed Wednesday night he had swindled law clients of $183,725 and lost most of the money betting on horses.

Matthew J. Siano, a Tuckahoe, N. Y., lawyer, who has been a justice of the peace in Eastchester for the last 20 years, admitted the frauds to Dist. Atty. Joseph F. Gagliardi.

Gagliardi said Siano, married and the father of three children, had come to him to make a "clean breast" of his crimes because his conscience hurt. Siano said he had swindled 30 clients in the past seven years by pretending to invest their money in real estate mortgages.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Written for NEA Service

The Magi and the Shepherds took gifts to the Christchild when He was born in a stable in Bethlehem. This practice of giving to others on the birthday of Jesus has become a tradition.

As soon as Thanksgiving Day is past we see Christmas decorations and hear a crescendo of Christmas music. Christmas has become a season of happiness, but many have forgotten the spiritual purpose of the occasion.

We have many reminders of the gifts which we are urged to give, but along with the gifts we ought to give something of ourselves. We should honor the coming of Christ who gave His life that men might live.

Love and friendship, faith and hope must be a part of the Christmas spirit. Let us keep Christ in Christmas.

Upper 40 Club
Tours Indian
Burial Ground

A dozen members of the Upper Forty Explorer's club braved the weather Sunday to visit the little-known Indian burial ground atop isolated Horseshoe Bluff along the lower Big Muddy river. Only half mile long and a quarter of a mile wide at its base, this spectacular formation rises more than 400 feet above the stream bed.

It is estimated that more than 200 Indian graves lie along the summit and some 20 burial mounds were counted. These averaged room-size and about 5 feet high. Nearly all the mounds and many graves had been dug open years ago, apparently by amateur relic hunters.

The group said this was one of its most interesting trips. Nearly two hours were spent in the round-about climb. From the summit the breath-taking view included a rain-storm sweeping down the distant Mississippi with a strip of sunlight following. A stout wind blowing against the perpendicular face of the high cliff deflected itself upward past the climbers with a great roar. A wildcat den in the crags just below the rim was a new experience. (A large specimen caught in the area some time ago was mounted and displayed in a filling station in Ware).

On a high bit of ground in the quiet valley on the north side lay the site of the ancient village. Early settlers said part of it was paved with flat stones. A short way farther facing south, two large bluff shelters had been their winter homes. Several arrowheads and other relics of these long-ago people were picked up before the tired but happy party began the long climb back to their cars.

Those making the trip were: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lentz and children, Peggy and Benny, Coulterville; Mr. and Mrs. Orville Rich-ter and son, Glenn, Brentwood, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sold-ner, Marion, and Bill Farley and Wayman Presley, guides. On the last regular color tour sponsored Cub Scout Pack 13, sponsored by the First Christian church, held its regular meeting Tuesday at the church.

The theme for November was Puerto Rico. Several of the boys wore costumes typical of Puerto Ricans and many displayed drums and maracas they had made.

It was decided that the next meeting would be held Dec. 18 and would be a Christmas party with the boys exchanging 50 cent gifts.

The following boys received awards: Rex Barnett, bobcat badge, Forrest Moore and Buddy Tuttle, wolf badges, Kirt Feazel and Mike Brown, silver arrow points, and Bill Brackney, bear badge.

by the group on Nov. 11, 37 car loads of people visited Little Grand Canyon and at sunset filled nearby Fairview Christian church for worship. Twelve denominations were represented.

Day of the Outlaw

By Lee Wells

Copyright 1955, by Lee Wells. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: An outlaw pack, strained by inner dissension, is isolated in Bitter, Wyo., by impassable roads. The gang, led by Jack Bruhn, has murdered one man, seized guns and terrorized the town. Dan Murdock, foreman of the Star ranch, has found one gun in town, in possession of Vivian McLearn. He hastens to find other residents to tell them of the find.

XVIII

Dan's eyes swept the Wyoming Bar and flickered with disappointment. Phil was not here, but it would be an even bet that sooner or later he would appear. At a far table Tex Darrow, Juarez Smith and Egan sat in a deep whispered conference.

Tex looked up, caught sight of Dan and his dark eyes held level for a long second. He nodded slightly and listened to something that Juarez said. Dan started toward the long, empty bar but saw Starrett seated alone at a table across the room. Dan walked up to Starrett's table.

"Seen Phil?" he asked in a low tone. Starrett looked up, eyes hard, and his lips barely moved.

"No." He gave his attention to the top of the table.

Dan pushed his hat back. "Mind company, Blaise?"

"Leave it be, Dan. We had our say last night."

Dan's face grew warm and he felt hot about the eyes. He turned and walked to the bar, his back straight.

The front door opened and Dan saw Starrett straighten expectantly, pale eyes sharp and alert. Gene Hiatt stepped in. Starrett's shoulders sagged and Dan could see the disappointment in his face. The three outlaws looked up in covert alarm, then settled again to their discussion.

Dan watched Hiatt approach the bar and again he felt the extreme youth of the outlaw. Too bad, Dan thought, a kid like him would hit the renegade trail.

"Getting colder," Hiatt said. "Be snowing before long."

Dan read a loneliness in the man's eyes; it lurked like shadows far back in their depths.

"Looks bad to the north. Winters are hard in the valley."

"It's kind of like country I know," Hiatt said. "Only we didn't have big mountains like here."

"Further south," Dan nodded, "maybe down toward Kansas?"

Hiatt hesitated and a cloud touched his eyes, was gone again.

"Down that way . . . maybe beyond. It makes no difference." He glanced at the mirror. "But I kind of like this country up here. It's big and I guess it's tough."

He and Dan talked on, Hiatt asking questions, Dan answering, feeling his dislike for the outlaw lessen. Hiatt brought his talk around to the town itself and then to the people in it. Soon he mentioned Ernie.

Dan looked sharply at him, his suspicions aroused again. But Hiatt didn't notice and he talked on. Dan answered more and more shortly as Hiatt again and again brought the talk around to Ernie.

"I don't know. You see a girl like her and you start dreaming about things . . . things that maybe won't come true but you still like to think of them, anyhow. She's sure a beautiful girl. Some man would be right proud of her some day."

"Ernie's too good for any of you crooked killers. She's clear out and beyond you, Hiatt."

Dan strode angrily to a nearby table. He dropped into a chair and saw Hiatt watching him with stricken eyes.

The door opened suddenly, and Jack Bruhn strode in. The whiskered outlaw, Denver, was at his heels. Tex Darrow straightened so suddenly that Dan knew the group had been discussing Bruhn. Juarez eased back in his chair, swarthy face inscrutable. Egan edged away from the other two as though he feared the implication of association with them.

Bruhn walked heavily to a table against the far wall and sat down. He placed his glass before him, shoved his hat back from his granite face. Starrett covertly eyed Bruhn, made a few sudden moves as though he intended to get up, and then changed his mind.

As though he could read the man's mind, Dan knew without doubt that Starrett worked up courage to make his proposition to the outlaw leader. But something held him back, some last shred of character that had escaped the corrosive acid of his ambition. Dan felt his own tension grow while Starrett made his silent struggle.

Starrett's chair scraped back and he stood up.

Dan himself straightened, eyes glued to the mirror. Starrett stood quite still, his jaw thrust forward, his fist clenched. He moved rapidly between the tables to come to a halt before Jack Bruhn.

Dan saw everything magnified as though he watched the final, physical death of a friend. He felt a deep sense of defeat and despair, as though Starrett closed a door on all that was of the past, making it worthless.

Bruhn looked up and Starrett came close, bent over him, speaking low and rapidly. Bruhn was surprised, and suspicious. He showed in the long searching look he gave Starrett before he barely nodded and Starrett eagerly sat down.

Dan watched, stunned. He could not fully believe that Starrett had taken this final step. But Starrett leaned forward, eagerly, face alight. Bruhn listened stolidly, eyes now and then cutting to Starrett, but more often looking out across the room. At the other table, Darrow and Egan watched curiously.

Top Illinois Prep Teams In Action This Week

By United Press

The Illinois prep basketball season rolls into high gear this week with some of the larger schools and the top powers in pre-season figuring going into action for the first time.

Defending state champion Rockford West, which for the first time in three seasons is not counted the favorite for the Sweet Sixteen crown, opens its campaign against the Belvidere Bucs Friday.

Pinckneyville's Panthers, rated one of the top teams in the state in early figuring, meet Sparta in another opening game Friday.

West Frankfort, which beat the Panthers in the super-sectional round of last year's state tournament and is counted tough again this year, opens against Christopher.

Galesburg, another club which lost in super-sectional play last season, collides with Peoria Manual. Galesburg has already won two games this season.

Elgin, favored along with Rockford East to unseat Rockford West in the Big Eight race, also goes after its third victory, against Dec. Plains (Maine Township) Rockford East tangles with Mount Carroll in the E-Rab's opener.

Carbondale Athletics, which has already knocked off highly regarded Mount Vernon, and won four straight games, plays in the Trico tournament this weekend.

Edwardsville's Tigers, who lost the state title to Rockford West in a 67-65 thriller last season, open the new campaign against Highland.

In the northwest area, Moline, which has already conquered Rock Island Alleman, goes after win No. 2 against Thornton.

Champaign at Kankakee

Most Big 12 teams get into action in non-conference frays. Lincoln meets Clinton, Urbana plays Rantoul, and Springfield takes on Centralia on Friday. Champaign is at Kankakee, and Mattoon entertains Olney Saturday.

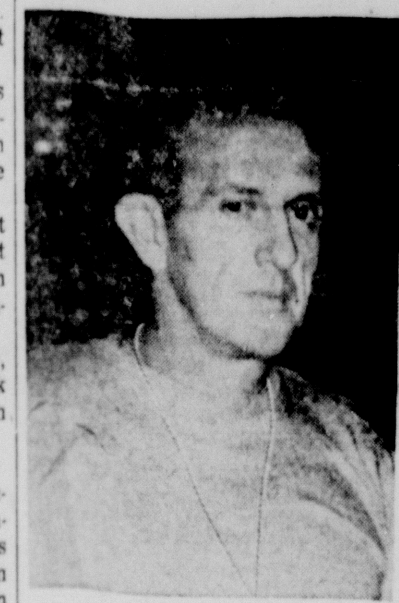

In the Eastern Illinois Conference Friday, Oblong is at Newton and Palestine at Hutsonville. Saturday Robinson is at Charleston and Marshall at Casey.

Mount Vernon meets Salem Saturday in another southern Illinois feature.

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs, Who Will Open Their Home Basketball Season Against Eldorado Saturday Night

MAKING THEIR DEBUT IN DAVENPORT GYM Saturday night will be the Harrisburg Bull Dog basketball team members shown above. Shown left to right standing are Coach John Dotson, Bill Henshaw, Ben Fulkerson, Melvin Hicks, Wayne Stone, Bill Yates, John Zeigler and Ray Hassett. Kneeling are Jim Cummins, Eddie Price, Gary Aldridge, Mickey Stone, Don Biggs, Charles Cummins and Manager Ronnie Vick. U. S. Adds 19th Gold Medal With Upset Win in 400; Briton Wins Steeplechase

MELBOURNE (AP) — Charley Jenkins, 22-year-old student at Villanova, won his gold medal the hard way with a tremendous surge in the stretch. Running third with his long stride and flawless form, he suddenly blasted around world record holder Lou Jones of New Rochelle, N. J., who had led from the start, and then caught Russia's Aradalian Ignatiev.

As Charlie swept over the finish line in a comparatively slow 46.7, Karl Haas of Germany nosed out the Russian for second place. Zoltan Hellstein of Finland passed the winded and cantering Jones, who finished fifth with Malcolm Spence of South Africa sixth.

Dispute Develops

A fierce dispute developed when Brasher was disqualified for bumping Ernst Larsen of Norway on the fourth jump from the finish.

The plucky Briton finished 20 yards ahead of the field in 8:41.2, shattering the record of 8:45.4 set four years ago by Horace Ashenfelter of the U. S. But the judges ruled he had bumped Larsen and the crown was awarded first to the second-place man, world record holder Sandor Rozsnyoi of Hungary.

Brasher appealed to the protest jury and hours later his gold medal was restored. The Hungarian was dropped back to second place and Larsen third, exactly as they had finished in the race. Charley Jones of Boystown, Neb., ran well through the first five of the 7½ laps but faded far back under the closing pressure.

Campbell, a husky 22-year-old sailor, and world record-holder Rafer Johnson of Kingsburg, Calif., dominated the first five events of the day-long decathlon grind. Campbell wound up the day with 4,564 points and Johnson was second with 4,397 after competition in the 100-meter dash, broad jump, shot put, high jump and 400 meters.

Campbell finished first in the 100, shot, and 400 and was second

Looking at Sports

BY BILL MELTON

Ted Search of Chester, one of Southern Illinois' top athletic officials for years, has retired as an active official. He completed a 25 year career last week when he was head linesman of the Benton-West Frankfort football game.

Search is a former HTHS football coach, both as an assistant and later as head coach in the early 1930's.

He had not scheduled any basketball games for this season, so with the closing of football, his long career came to an end.

However, he probably will keep close contact with officiating as he has been active as a rules interpreter and is expected to continue in that capacity.

Also working in the Benton-West Frankfort game was Ernie Driggers of Mt. Vernon, who has 35 years behind him as an official. And he plans to remain active in the profession.

Another real veteran of the officiating profession in Little Egypt is Harrisburg's Louie Beltz. For many years Beltz has worked both football and basketball throughout southern Illinois, but has retired from the cage sport.

He recently stated he had planned to call it quits after the 1956 football season, but when offered contracts by schools he had called for over the years he just couldn't say no and had already accepted a few games. "But I sure think 1957 will be my last," Beltz declared.

Phil Coleman, former Southern Illinois University distance runner star, failed to qualify for the finals in the 3,000-meter steeplechase in the Olympics when he finished 9th in a field of 12 in one of the qualifying heats.

John Cherry, Galatia high school coach, gave his players lessons in the art of shooting free throws in the recent independent tourney played at Galatia.

In three games Cherry stepped up to the free throw line 33 times and was successful 30 times, for a .909 average.

Galatia won the championship game, beating Herrin 96-68, and had victories over Eldorado and Murphysboro en route to the title tilt.

Russ Martin of Carbondale, a quarterback, has been elected honorary captain of the University of Illinois freshman football team. Forty-nine freshman numerals, pending completion of scholastic requirements, have been awarded.

Lindell Lovellette of Eldorado was one of the group, which included five from southern Illinois high schools.

Kerby Ferrell New Manager of Cleveland Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Kerby Ferrell, Cleveland's new manager who admits he is "not a patient man," today promised that the 1957 Indians will have "dusty uniforms and torn pants from sliding."

Indicating that current members of the Cleveland team will have to hustle and produce to keep their jobs, Ferrell said that from now on the Indians, never known for their daring on the base paths, will be "fast, aggressive and interesting."

To no one's surprise, General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Indians named Ferrell as field manager, succeeding Al Lopez, at a dinner for newsmen Wednesday night. Ferrell signed a one-year contract.

Ferrell led the Indianapolis Indians to an American Association pennant and Little World Series title last season. The junior Indians also won the pennant in 1954 under Ferrell.

SMU Coach Asks to Resign

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Chalmers (Woody) Woodward became the second Southwest Conference coach of the season to bow to the pressure of a losing season Wednesday when he asked that his contract as coach of Southern Methodist not be renewed.

Woodward, in his fourth year at SMU, has won four games and lost five this season with one yet to play—against traditional rival Texas Christian Saturday.

Ed Price, University of Texas coach for five years, resigned last month effective Dec. 31 with a season record of one victory and eight losses with one game remaining.

Tubbs, Parker and Kramer Lead Selections for UP All-America Grid Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Center Jerry Tubbs of Oklahoma, guard Jim Parker of Ohio State and end Ron Kramer of Michigan stole the glamor from the backs today and led the nationwide voting for the 1956 United Press All-America football team.

The "dream team," selected in a poll of 251 sports writers and radio and television broadcasters from coast to coast, was comprised of:

Ends: Kramer and Joe Walton of Pittsburgh.

Tackles: John Witte of Oregon State and Lou Michaels of Kentucky.

Guards: Parker and Bill Glass of Baylor.

Center: Tubbs

Backs: Tommy McDonald of Oklahoma, Johnny Majors of Tennessee, Paul Hornung of Notre Dame and Jimmy Brown of Syracuse.

The Midwest thus placed 3 players.

Celtics Trip Lakers, 105-93

By United Press

The Boston Celtics, runaway leaders in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association, always appear able to carry on when one of their high scorers has an off night.

Jim Loscutoff picked up the slack Wednesday night, scoring 26 points as the Celtics whipped the Minneapolis Lakers, 105-93, in a neutral court game at the new Kentucky Coliseum.

Bob Cousy, who has been averaging more than 20 points per game for Boston, was held to only four field goals and 13 points. Clyde Lovellette paced Minneapolis with 22.

Wilmoths Leave to See Son Play in Army-Navy Grid Game

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilmoth left Wednesday for Philadelphia to see their son, Fred Jr., play for Army in the annual Army-Navy football game.

The game will be played Saturday afternoon and will be televised nationally. It will be shown over WISN-TV, Harrisburg.

Young Wilmoth is a tackle on the Army team. His father said he might not start the contest but was expected to see action.

For the benefit of local persons watching the contest, Wilmoth's number will be 76.

radio; Russ Martin, Carbondale; John Stelzer, Mt. Carmel; Larry McGreevy, Centralia; Joseph Wendryhoski, West Frankfort.

Thirty-one varsity letters also have been awarded at the U. of I. There were no southern Illinois players on the list, however Dick Nordmeyer, who played high school ball at Murphysboro before moving to Tucson, Ariz., was awarded his "L."

SIU's Carver Shannon Wins Rushing Title, Second in Conference Scoring

CHARLESTON, Ill. — Two halfbacks outdistanced all other contenders for individual offensive honors in the Interstate Conference during the 1956 football season.

Jim Podoley of Central Michigan was the league leader in total offense and scoring, while Carver Shannon of Southern Illinois University captured the rushing title and placed a close second in scoring.

Podoley, a senior from Mt. Morris, Mich., set a new IAC single-season scoring record with 78 points in six games, topping the old mark of 60 points, and gained 593 yards on total offense, including 494 yards on the ground and 99 yards by passing.

Shannon, a sophomore from Corinth, Miss., netted 505 yards on the ground to lead the league in rushing and finished just three points behind Podoley's scoring record with 75 points.

Eastern Michigan quarterback Herman Carrol paced all IAC passers with 28 completions in 55 attempts for 387 yards. Gary Anderson of Eastern Illinois was second with 22 completions and 269 yards, and Central Michigan's Herb Kipke placed third with 20 successful aerials for 264 yards.

End Mike Hundley of Illinois Normal was the league's pass receiving leader, catching 12 tosses for 146 yards and one touchdown. Podoley and Roger West of Eastern Illinois each caught nine passes.

Punting honors went to Bob McNamara, Central Michigan fullback. McNamara averaged 37.3 yards per punt as he kicked 25 times for 932 yards. Dave Timok of Western Illinois averaged 36.0 yards per boot, and Jim Caldwell of Northern Illinois averaged 35.2 yards per try.

Central Michigan, winning its fifth straight football crown, was the league leading offensive and defensive team. While the Chippewas were averaging 353.3 yards per game in total offense, they

It's Easy to Suit a Sportsman Friend

IF HE'S A SPORTSMAN his gift will be easy. There are accessories for everyone from hiker to photographer. For the traveler there are Taylor's instruments. For the hunter, glass and sights by Bausch & Lomb. Photo enthusiasts will go for lenses, attachments or a new camera by Graphic. How about a boat spotlight by Ivalite, or a complete road atlas by Rand-McNally for those with wanderlust.

Playing Santa to the outdoorsman is a cinch.

No matter what his main interest—bird-watching, boating, hunting, fishing, hiking or just plain weekend picnicking—he's bound to appreciate any gift that will help him make the most of his all-too-few hours in the wide open spaces.

For example, how about something for the car? Almost all of his outings will start and end with trips in the family auto—and no matter where he's headed, he'll better enjoy all his driving with a useful auto accessory like the Taylor auto altimeter.

On the open road or deep in the woods, it makes no difference where he is, he'll never lose his way if he's wearing a convenient wrist compass by Taylor—the outdoorsman's best friend.

Perennial favorites with every sportsman are top quality optical gifts. According to Bausch & Lomb, two items lead this year's popularity parade: a binocular for crisp close-ups of distant animals, birds and scenery, and Ray-Ban sun glasses for eye comfort and safety in the field, on the beach, or while driving.

However, if he's a hunter, he'll probably place top priority on the thrill of owning a variable power rifle sight and as a companion gift, a pair of impact-resistant shooting glasses.

The whole family will get into the act when it comes to making color slides of outdoor adventures with the new Graphic 35. The push-button focusing of this easy-to-handle 35mm camera brings good photography well within the reach of even the most inexperienced shutterbug.

He'll find trip planning easy with a complete and up-to-date source of highway information like one of the new Rand-McNally road atlases. Not only will it save hours of valuable time and countless gallons of gas, but it will also materially reduce the wear and tear on the nervous system always caused by wrong turns and detours.

Safer, more pleasurable cruising goes with a sealed-beam Ivalite spotlight. Made by the Arnolt Crop, it can be mounted atop the cabin and controlled from inside to help find landmarks and safe harbors at night from as much as half a mile away.

HEAVENLY HOSTS

For the mantel, angels in chorus add a bright touch. They're made of Christmas balls covered with peach flameproof crepe paper for the heads and pleated duplex crepe paper for the skirts. Lacy wings are made of paper dollies.

Indian Student Kuldip Singh, Besieged With Offers, Faces Immigration Troubles

By ALINE MOSBY

United Press Hollywood Writer HOLLYWOOD — Neither immigration troubles nor medical school will keep an India-born student named Kuldip Singh from becoming the next Lawrence Welk or Liberace in America. Kuldip, as TV viewers know, is the boy-makes-good-in-America dream come true. A short month ago he was an unknown student. Today the handsome, 23-year-old Hindu is a recording star besieged with TV and movie offers—all because he appeared as a contestant on a quiz show.

The student, who had never sung before in his life except in the shower, obliged with a tune on the Groucho Marx show. Literally overnight he signed with RCA Victor to record songs. He was rushed onto the George Gobel show and did a return performance on the Marx program at the demand of 8,000 viewers. He has counted 10,000 fan letters (most from middle-aged women) and already has 65 fan clubs around the country.

Neglected to Get Permit

Unfortunately, the smiling Kuldip was so busy answering fan letters he forgot to apply to the Immigration Service for a work permit, as he was in this country on a student visa. He'll have to leave the U. S. by Dec. 15. But he can re-enter on a visitor's visa, and a spokesman at the Immigration Service says he probably will get one.

"I hope I will be able to come back," sighed Kuldip. "The people of America like me, and that is bigger than anything in the world. I did nothing wrong. I was not looking for employment when I went on the Groucho show—only prize money to go to school on—so it never occurred to me to ask for a work permit."

Kuldip is still overwhelmed by the change in his life. Last month he was living in a $75-a-month boarding house near Los Angeles State College and living on a modest allowance from his father, a merchant who moved to Trinidad from Kashmir, India, when Kuldip was 3 months old.

"Such Beautiful Letters"

Now Kuldip has moved to the bustling Sunset Strip area where most Hollywood bachelors live. He appeared right at home among TV workers as we lunched in a restaurant across from NBC.

At one point a middle-aged woman spied him and cried, "Oh, you're the cute doctor who sang on TV!" Kuldip shook her hand professionally as if he'd been a crooner since Sinatra cut his first bow tie.

The ex-student has no regrets about abandoning a medical career in which he's invested four years and taking up the uncertain world of entertainment.

"I am so happy singing," he said with expressive gestures and an angelic smile. "Such beautiful letters I get from people!"
